'Tiger', 'Zoo Story' Casts Five 'Excellent' Shows

Both in character portrayal typified both "The Tiger" and "Zoo Story" in last Friday's presentations. Although the actors performed well, the better quality of "The Zoo Story" was that Murray Schisgal's "Tiger" seemed to hinge on trite plot and lost some of its effect, particularly when Gloria openly discussed the lack of communication in our world which was the point of the play. "The Zoo Story" revealed the message more subtly.

Miss Wilfert and Jerry Wang, Gloria and Ben, gave polished performances for the most part, but both had moments of lack of intensity, particularly, Miss Wilfert. Some of her speeches were mumbled and sounded almost recited, and at times she did not appear as desperate as the situation required.

J. Dale Long was outstanding as Jerry in "The Zoo Story." He spoke clearly, and with much expression, even though his lines were long and involved. His portrayal of Jerry as an odd, but good man was excellent.

Gregg Reed played the supporting role of Peter, as the comely, well-to-do executive well. His facial expressions and his reaction at Jerry's intrusion were convincing.

The settings for the plays was theater-in-the-round. The audience was closer to the stage than in the regular theater, and more involved in the action more easily.

The performances were obviously the result of much work on the part of the performers and excellent directing from Fred Langley, language arts instructor, and assistant directors, Terry and Wayne Clary.

Frosh Choose Royalty

The freshmen class chose winter formal royalty during balloting Monday and Tuesday of this week. The royalty was chosen from a list of 20 finalists who were elected earlier.

Members of the court are Jill Lange, Paula Lyons, Alexandra Manolopoulos, Jeff Boston, Chuck Miles and Larry Williamson. The king and queen will be announced at the dance tomorrow night.

Decorating for the dance will be tonight at 7 and tomorrow morning beginning at 9. "All who are interested should come," said Jeff Boston, general chairman.

The dance will be in the CBC lounge from 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. Admission is $1.50 per couple. The tickets are on sale in the hall opposite the student lounge.

Roblee Johnson will take pictures. Cost is $1 per picture.

Theme of the dance is "Sweetheart Fantasy."

Council Discusses Emblem

The Student Council viewed an illustration of a proposed emblem to be constructed in the Edgar Brown Memorial Stadium.

The illustration was designed by Ken Azeltine. He presented his design at Monday's Council meeting. The matter was set aside for further planning and coordination with other stadium improvements.

It was moved and seconded that the ASB appropriate the money, amounting to $295 including delivery, pending further action and discussion with the architect.

FRESHMAN class president, Larry Williamson said that tickets for the Winter Formal would be $1.50. The dance will be semi-formal, and will be held in the Student Lounge. Williamson also said help in any phase of the dance preparations would be appreciated.

The King and Queen will be crowned at midnight.

John Kinsey, ASB treasurer, presented the January fiscal report in Wednesday's Council meeting.

Dame Alicia to Speak At Pasco High School

Dame Alicia Markova will appear at the Pasco High School Monday morning at 10. The topic of her lecture will be "The World of the Ballet."

Dame Alicia, prima ballerina, retired from dancing in 1963, after almost 40 years of acclaim on five continents. In June of 1963 Queen Elizabeth conferred on Alicia Markova the title of Dame.

Dame Alicia is now the director of the Metropolitan Opera Ballet Company.

She also directs the Metropolitan Opera Ballet Studio in its presentation of educational programs for students in New York City area schools.

Dame Alicia made her debut in 1938 as "Gisele", the role in which she set a standard for our age. She has starred with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and American Ballet Theatre, throughout the United States. She has been acclaimed by critics all over the world.

John Martin, the famous New York Times dance critic, once called Dame Alicia "not only the best living ballet dancer, but probably the greatest who ever lived."

Buses will be provided for students who wish to attend the lecture. The buses, which will be parked near the student parking lot, will leave the campus at 9:55 a. m.

Student Y Sponsors Speakers

The Student Y will have Mr. Lee Lund of Richland as guest speaker Friday, Feb. 12 at 10 a. m. in room C-13. Mr. Lund will speak on "Abraham Lincoln—Up From Poverty."

Mr. Lund's hobby is the life of Lincoln, so he was asked to speak in accordance with Lincoln's birthday.

On Friday, Feb. 19, Mr. Robert Jackson will speak to the Student Y on the "War on Poverty." Mr. Jackson is a Washington State attorney.

Mrs. Tew, from the State Welfare Department, spoke Jan. 29 on the progress in the Pasco area since the passing of the anti-poverty bill. She said that the progress has been slow.

The ASB bank balance now stands at $36,304.37.

LARRY GROSHOFF mentioned that Mr. Baker has already installed one drainage pipe along the roof by the west entrance of the school in an effort to halt the annoying water run-off that many students have complained about.

Don't Get Sick at CBC

If an elementary student in the Pasco School District becomes ill while in school, he is taken to the school's health center, where a nurse or some trained employee is always on duty.

This health center is fully equipped to care for students with minor burns, scratches, bruises, headaches, stomach aches and so on. The same is true for junior high school and high school.

All the schools in the Pasco School District provide this service to their students, save one. CBC is the only school in the District that has no health center. A health center should not be confused with the nursing department at CBC.

THE CBC nursing department is just like any other division of learning. The nursing department staff teaches students in that specialized field. The nursing rooms are classrooms. This is not a health center.

Vennetta Stappler, Director of Women's Activities, often keeps such first-aid supplies as bandages and antiseptics; but, while this is helpful, it is insufficient for a school with as many students as CBC.

If a CBC student suffered minor injury while on campus, where would he go? A CBC women's physical education instructor said "When girls come to me sick and in need of help, I don't know where to take them."

There should be a place with staff and facilities on campus, where students may receive help.

Navy Team to Visit CBC Campus Monday

A Naval Aviation Information Team will visit Columbia Basin College, Monday, to explain the Navy's flight training program.

Students who have two to four years of college training are eligible for a variety of flight programs in addition to pilot training. All lead to positions as officers in Naval Aviation.

The Information Team will be available in the cafeteria lounge from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

APPLICANTS must be between 18 and 26 years of age, except veterans who may apply up to 30½. Age, educational and physical requirements vary for each program. Aptitude examinations will be given without obligation to interested students.

Some of the programs available lead toward duties as pilots, navigators, bombardiers, airborne controllers, airborne interceptors, tactical evaluators and electronic counter-measure evaluators.

Lcdr. G. E. Thomas, a Naval Aviator, will head the Information Team from the Naval Air Station, Seattle, Washington.

For further information, students may write to: Aviation Programs, U. S. Naval Air Station, Seattle, Washington, 98115.

TRASA Aids Overseas College Student Travel

A new organization to revolutionize coed student travel has been launched from New York City. It is the Trans-Atlantic Student Association with offices at 387 Park Avenue South.

The Trans-Atlantic Student Association (TRASA) was formed by a group of recent college graduate to bring overseas travel within the budget of every student in the United States.

Special features of the TRASA plan include financing for vacations, air transport arrangements, group tours and accommodation in major European cities for TRASA members. In addition, the organization will operate a student nightclub in New York City.

TRASA has reciprocal club facilities in major European cities where its members can meet European students and take part in genuine European student life. In this way, TRASA's organizers believe a European visit will become more enjoyable and more worthwhile. The aim is to achieve integration with European student activities and not make gawking tourists out of American students.

A representative of TRASA described its functions this way: "More and more, travel is an integral part of the college curriculum and any student who does not venture abroad finds himself not only having missed the pleasure and excitement of a vacation overseas, but also is at a decided disadvantage in his studies."

The spokesman explained that TRASA would be able to achieve uniquely low travel prices because of its large membership and comprehensive approach to the problems of students when traveling.

Management Club Buys Trophy

The Basin Management Club has purchased a large trophy.

It will be awarded to the outstanding Mid-Management college club at the state leadership conference held in Yakima in March. This trophy will be awarded to the club with the highest total points at the awards banquet March 30.

This trophy has been set up and paid for by the Basin Management Club of Columbia Basin College. All clubs are eligible to enter competition, but the club with the most first and second place winners will be the eventual winner.

The trophy itself is a large diamond shape with the DECA emblem in the center and several spaces on which the winning clubs' name can be engraved. When all spaces are filled, the club with the most wins may keep the trophy.

Competition by the Mid-Management clubs of the state centers in Salesmanship contests, Marketing Problem solving contest, Advertisign contests, and Decision Making Contests. C.B.C.'s club last year won 7 awards of a possible 12.

Sarton Casts CBC Drama Dept. Play

By J. Dale Long
Collegiate Staff Writer

Daniel Sarton, language arts, last week announced the cast for the next production of the CBC Drama Department. Rehearsals, under the direction of Sarton, are presently under way for "The Wonderful Cure," by Collins J. Bell, a children's play to be presented to Pasco area grade schools.

Cast for the show is Jerry Wang as the King; Wayne Clary as the Jester; Dan Whetler as the Executioner; Dave Dalthorp as the Minister of War; Terry Jeffrey as the Weatherman; Nikki Dyan as Frolic; Trisha Halvorson as Fun; Carrie Jenkins as the Weatherlady; Bev Meyer as Music, and Janice Schauss as the Queen.

"The Wonderful Cure" is a story about happiness. In the play there are two kingdoms, the Happy Kingdom and the Unhappy Kingdom. Those living in the Happy Kingdom teach those in the Unhappy Kingdom how to be happy. The play is that delightful blend of nonsense and good fun that should be a real hit with the children.

The play will be performed for all the grade school children of the Pasco area during the last week of February with a final performance in the CBC lounge Friday, February 27.

Sarton reports that the production staff for this play is still open to volunteers and any students interested in helping with the technical end of the

Five Answer Library Hour Questionnaire

Only five persons completed library questionnaire asking additional hours who filled out the questionnaire. Only three said they would use the library regularly. Three indicated they would use it frequently, occasionally, and one said he would never use the library on Saturday.

One person said he would use the library frequently 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. on days. Two said they would use the facilities several days a week before exams, and one said he would never use the library on weekdays.

"As of now, there is not enough demand to keep the library open additional hours other than the present hours," said Dr. Edward Dean of instruction. However, the survey will be extended another week, Beatty said.

"I strongly urge students to fill out the questionnaire. They would like the library to remain open for additional hours," Beatty said.

"Shane" Is Next ASB Movie

Scheduled for show next week, February 18, in the film series is the American film, "Shane."

"Shane" stars Alan Ladd and Jean Arthur. Also seen are Robert Montgomery, Van Heflin and Don de Wilde. "Shane" is a western that won several Academy Awards and ran for such great westerns as "Stagecoach" and "Noon."

The movie will be shown at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. in the CBC lounge. Admission is free. CBC students and faculty are invited.

Students taking part in the play should contact the production staff for this play is still open to volunteers and any students interested in helping with the technical end of the
